Sale Day At Whole Foods

A recent trip to Organiclea saw a group of Pakeman children return to school with 5 kilos of organic strawberries. Following their trip the group quickly turned their fruit into strawberry jam. At the weekend, some of these children set up a stall at Whole Foods store in Stoke Newington where they did a fantastic job of selling their home-made produce. Their behaviour was outstanding. Thanks to all those involved, including Marcia for setting up the event.

School Production

Year 6 have been performing Moana for parents and carers to come and enjoy. All classes throughout the school, from year 1-5, have joined in with their class song. Everyone has worked so hard and shown such enthusiasm. Huge thanks to Jack, Rose and Natasha for their combined musical and production skills. Thanks also to Siobhan and Fahima for set design and support with costumes. And, of course, thanks to our amazing children!!!

Amazing Homework

Children in years 3 and 4 have made these super models as part of their homework. They're so good we wanted to share!

Stories In The Nursery

This week, our nursery children have been reading some lovely stories. A favourite of theirs is 'My Hair', a book which celebrates different types of hair and hairstyles, showing that everyone is unique and beautiful. The story encouraged conversations amongst the nursery children about identity, self-expression, and appreciating differences. To bring the story to life, they loved taking part in a hairdressing role-play area, where they had lots of fun styling hair and using their imaginations.

Hidden Heroes Visit The Toy Project

Thanks to our ongoing, special connection with The Toy Project some of our KS1 Hidden Heroes enjoyed a trip there this week. They took part in an art workshop about Elmer the elephant. They painted their own pictures and got to choose two books each to take back to school.

The Toy Project is a wonderful charity that recycles unwanted toys and raises money through toys to provide them to children, families and communities and organisations, such as hospitals.

Forest School

Maple Class have been enjoying some amazing sessions at Forest School this half term. The class have been attending weekly sessions there on Mondays. Forest School sessions are a fun and engaging way for children to experience a woodland setting whilst developing a connection and love of the natural world. Our children in Maple class have certainly felt a connection!

Pakeman Art Week

Celebrating Art Week at Pakeman through use of colour and collage to create some magnificent wind socks.
